port In St. Louis
Talk Friday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Herbert Hoover will leave the national capital today, the base of his unusual campaign for the presidency, on a trans-continental journey to his California home to vote.

It would be a costly vote, but he goes on another mission, to garner other votes on his way west by public appearances before thousands of voters and four speeches in which he is expected to restate, in general, his position upon the issues of the election.

He will deliver the first of these final campaign messages tonight, standing beneath the sputtering flares redolent of political campaigns in the little town of Cumberland in western Maryland, a Republican stronghold in this state generally conceded as "doubtful."

Hoover leaves here confident he will return some weeks hence as president-elect of the United States. He expressed his confidence again, for the second time in his campaign, in his final news-paper conference here.

"We shall win this election without any question of a doubt if the people who believe with us go to the polls," Hoover said.

The highpoint of his western trip will be his appeal for farm support in his St. Louis address tomorrow night over the national radio hook-up. Hoover has indicated the importance he attaches to this address, the final major speech of his campaign, by the care with which he has prepared it.

The two other speeches on the way west will be those at Louisville tomorrow morning, which he will deliver from the court house steps after an hour's parade through the city, and at Pueblo, Colorado, the home of Chairman Work of the Republican national committee, Saturday night over a radio hook-up that will carry it to the neighboring Rocky Mountain states.

Hoover was to call at the White House today to bid goodbye to President Coolidge, and at Republican national headquarters to thank those there who have worked for his election. It was indicated earlier in the campaign that President Coolidge might make a speech for Hoover. There were rumors today the President may yet make a statement in his former cabinet officer's behalf, and that this would be revealed after Hoover's farewell visit.

MAN CHARGED WITH
KIDNAPING OHIO
GIRL; SEEK SECOND

IRONTON, O., Nov. 1.—James Fuller, 45, of Burlington, was in Lawrence County jail today unable to furnish $1,000 bond on a charge of kidnaping Miss Nellie Johnson, 16, of North Kenova, O. Authorities are searching for a second man described by the girl.

The girl told Lawrence County authorities an absorbing story of how she was grabbed, bound and gagged on the night of October 1, and taken to an abandoned house in Huntington, W. Va., where she was kept a prisoner twelve days. She managed to escape.

Miss Johnson said she was on her way to a neighbor's house on the night of October 1. Coming from behind a truck, two men seized her, she said, clamped a gag over her mouth and put her into a waiting car.

Following the girl's escape, Fuller was arrested. He has refused to talk but Miss Johnson gave authorities a description of the second of the duo.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Judge Edwin B. Parker, arbiter under the settlement of war claims act, denied the right of ex-enemy claimants to recover compensation "under the act of licenses, under more than 5,000 patents acquired by the United States from the chemical industry, Inc."

He announced rules and principles governing the decision of claims based on the remainder of 12,000 enemy-owned patents taken over by the U. S. during the World War.

BETTY HEYWOOD TO
SUE CITY OF LORAIN
TO RECOVER DAMAGE

Cicco And Two Other Officers To Be Named
In Suit

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1.—Miss Betty Heywood, young British subject, who was wounded by a Lorain policeman who fired on her during a motor ride, will sue the city of Lorain, city officials and those responsible for shooting her, to "recover large damages," it was learned late today.

The information came from Senator George H. Bender, who is one of the leaders of the league for the preservation of constitutional rights—the constitutional government league.

Miss Heywood was shot one night last month as she, her father, an aunt and an uncle were motoring. Subsequently Louis Cicco, a former Lorain policeman, was indicted on charges of shooting with intent to wound.

Cicco was tried last week but was found guilty of only assault and battery. The other two officers, Charles Klady and Walter Knitter were not formally charged.

The suit, according to Bender, will name Klady and Knitter along with Cicco.

Bender said that since the municipality of Lorain cannot, by law, be named a direct defendant, city and county officials will be named.

These, he said, would include Mayor C. J. Standen, and Sheriff W. J. Matthews.

The complaint, according to the state senator, will charge that the officers acted unlawfully by firing at the Heywood car.

Bender was not prepared to say the amount of damages Miss Heywood will ask.

ASA KEYES CHARGED WITH CORRUPTION
IN PETROLEUM CASE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles County, may surrender today on a warrant charging him with wilful corruption and misconduct in office in connection with the $100,000 Julian petroleum case.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 1.—The names of both officials who may be ejected in connection with the Cuyahoga County election fraud scandal may be announced today.

More than 200 booth workers were facing removal and the outer order, in some instances, will clean out entire precinct booth organizations, it was understood.

Many of the workers, the United Press learned, will be discharged because of carelessness and not because of wilful election irregularities.

The names of those suspected of deliberate violations will be presented to the special grand jury which recently recommended the dismissal of the entire county election board, according to reports.

The grand jury is expected to reconvene Monday.

Meanwhile, a warm contest, looking to the replacement of members of the election board discharged by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, was under way.

Both the Republicans and Democrats were seeking to seat a majority on the board, while a third organization—a citizens committee—was seeking to seat members selected by the committee.

Attorney General Edward C. Turner conducted the grand jury fraud inquiry, will return Monday for the next grand jury session.

Members of the Republican executive committee, called together by their chairman, A. J. Hirstius, ousted clerk of the board of elections, were to meet this afternoon to nominate successors to Thomas S. Farrell and Alex Bernstein, two Republican members of the board, ordered out of office for alleged malfeasance.

Maurice H. Maschke, Republican leader, has denied the party has any intention of recommending that Farrell and Bernstein be reappointed. He said candidates of undoubted ability and integrity would be named.

Democratic leaders have said that they will rename Mrs. Bernece A. Pyke, Democratic member of the board, who was ousted with the rest by Brown, despite grand jury recommendation that she be retained.

According to current reports here, George's message claimed Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general had planted an agent named Hanson to spy on Snook. Subsequently, it became known according to the records that Hanson was not accused of any crime, thus revealing allegedly that he was "planted."

In his connection, it is recalled Snook paid a mysterious visit here some weeks ago to confer with Justice department officials on the question of undercover agents activities.

The department denied knowledge of any ouster or retirement of Snook as rumored from Cleveland, and like wise professed to have no knowledge of reports that Josie Kirby, Cleveland banker had been ordered with others to be transferred to Leavenworth penitentiary presumably as an outcome

FOUR GENERATIONS IN OHIO GAS EXPLOSION

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 1.—Authorities today launched an investigation of the gas explosion here late yesterday which wrecked the John Conroy home and resulted in the death of one woman and the injury of six other persons, two of whom may die.

The explosion occurred while two gas company repairmen were testing a main.

Mrs. Mildred Bosch, 25, was buried beneath the debris and was dead when firemen extricated her four hours after the blast.

Mrs. Rose Conroy, Mrs. Bosch's mother, and Mrs. Helen Huser, 80, Mrs. Bosch's grandmother, also were pinned beneath the wreckage and may die.

Mrs. Conroy was taken from the debris at the same time her daughter's body was. Mrs. Huser was rescued soon after the blast.

The others injured were Robert Bosch, 3, Albert, 1, and the two workmen.

A spark from tools the men were using apparently ignited the gas.

SECRETARY BROWN

CUYAHOGA PROBE

Booth Officials May Be Ejected After Election
Fraud Scandal

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1.—The state emergency board, at a special meeting today was expected to appropriate funds to finance proposed supervision of the coming election in Cuyahoga County.

Request was made to the board, yesterday, by Secretary of State Brown for an appropriation of $15,000 to pay expenses of his department in investigating and supervising election matters.

A special meeting of the board was called by Governor Donahey to expedite action on the appropriation request.

The board previously had appropriated $50,000 for the attorney general's department to finance the special grand jury investigation of election irregularities in Cuyahoga County.

GIANT OF AIR LANDS
AT FRIEDRICHSHAFEN
EARLY ON THURSDAY

Dirigible Experienced Bad Weather Over
Newfoundland

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN,
Germany, Nov. 1.—Germany's greatest air liner came back to the fatherland today after an epochal cruise that took it over two continents and an ocean.

The Graf Zeppelin settled to the ground here at 7:05 a. m. (11:05 a. m. Eastern time) and was greeted by a throng of sleepy eyed Germans who had waited all night at the hangar to welcome Dr. Hugo Eckener and his triumphant crew.

The trip from Lakehurst, N. J., took seventy-one hours and eleven minutes.

It was a good-natured crowd that tumbled out of bed at this town at 4:30 a. m. when the Graf Zeppelin was reported sighted. Those who were unable to get beds slept on the ground. Shouts went up as the wailing of the Zeppelin's motors was heard.

But a long wait was an aid to the crowd for Eckener declined to cruise above Lake Constance until the ground fog lifted and gave him a better chance to bring the airship down in safety.

Airplanes of the Luftwaffe Company went aloft in a formal salute to the airship that was at the end of a 10,000-mile tour.

Apparently the crowd had come from all parts of Germany, for many dialects were heard in the constant roar of voices, cheers being out in honor of the Zeppelin and the noise of the greediness was carried over most of Europe by a hook-up of thirty-four radio stations.

Now it was dawn and out of the clear sky came the dirigible sailing over Friedrichshafen. The crowd broke out into fresh cheering as it saw the passengers and crew of the Zeppelin waving from the cabin windows. Spectators grew wildly enthusiastic, and occasionally one of them would run to the microphone and shout a greeting to friends or relatives listening in somewhere in Germany.

Police had no difficulty in maintaining order.

Approximately 5,000 persons were at the airport.

One hundred and fifty troops were ordered from a nearby garrison to help the police maintain order.

Twice Eckener approached the field, came low and then headed away again unwilling to risk a landing that covered the field. The lack of wind was handicapping the crew of the dirigible for landing easier when bucking a breeze.

Then, at 6:30 o'clock, Eckener again piloted the ship toward the hangar. This time he meant business, and immediately began jockeying for a landing position. The Graf Zeppelin settled down to its lines. Then the cabin of the ship came down easily and the ground crew started the dirigible into the hangar along rails.

In the center of the wild confusion a valiant band held its place and alternately played "Deutschland Uber Alles" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

At 7:40 a. m. the passengers descended from the cabin, followed by Clarence Terhune, the American youth who stowed away and peeled potatoes to earn his passage. A loud burst of cheering greeted the crew when they marched out in their blue caps and leather jackets, faces beaming. Most passengers and members of the crew carried small parcels, apparently souvenirs from the United States.

American consul John E. Kehl made a brief speech in which he heralded the flight as an epochal event, bringing the establishment of better relations between the United States and Germany.

Passport officials evidently had been ordered to expedite the inspection of baggage for there was no repetition of the delay that occurred when the Graf Zeppelin landed at Lakehurst.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Nov. 1.—The Graf Zeppelin was tossed around "like a ball" on her return trip over the Atlantic, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, said.

Dr. Eckener said a terrific gale off Newfoundland, having a velocity of 40 meters (131 feet) a second pressed the Zeppelin downwards towards the ocean. For two hours the dirigible was tossed to and fro, he said.

SARGENT DEMANDED
TO PRODUCE ATLANTA

PEN PROBE RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Department of justice officials heard reports today that Senator George of Georgia had sent Attorney General Sargent a demand for publication of official records dealing with alleged use of undercover agents at Atlanta penitentiary to trap Ward Snook there. It was said at the department that this communication had not arrived yet however.

According to current reports here, George's message claimed Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general had planted an agent named Hanson to spy on Snook. Subsequently, it became known according to the records that Hanson was not accused of any crime, thus revealing allegedly that he was "planted."

In his connection, it is recalled Snook paid a mysterious visit here some weeks ago to confer with Justice department officials on the question of undercover agents activities.

The department denied knowledge of any ouster or retirement of Snook as rumored from Cleveland, and like wise professed to have no knowledge of reports that Josie Kirby, Cleveland banker had been ordered with others to be transferred to Leavenworth penitentiary presumably as an outcome of recent investigations at Atlanta.

Although no reason was given for the action, it was reported by the state's attorney's detectives that Rosenhagen had told conflicting stories about his connection with the finding of Miss Knack in the furnace room Tuesday morning.</

MARGARET TEACH
SUDDENLY CALLED
THURSDAY MORNING

Miss Margaret Teach, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Teach, 690 S. Detroit St., and a senior in Central High School, died unexpectedly at the McClellan Hospital at 4 o'clock Thursday morning.

Miss Teach had been ailing for the last two months. Her condition had not been considered serious however, until recently, and much of the time she had been attending school. She was removed to the hospital for treatment at 9:30 Wednesday night when alarming symptoms developed, but death was entirely unexpected. She was suffering from gastritis.

Miss Teach was the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Teach, and was born in Xenia November 28, 1911. She is survived by her parents and sister, Irma. She was a member of the First M. E. Church and Sunday School.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 Saturday, at the home, with burial at Woodland Cemetery.

POLICE CHIEF WARNS
REVELERS TO BE GOOD

Related Juvenile Hallowe'en celebrations were reminded Thursday by Police Chief M. E. Graham that Hallowe'en is now over.

Chief Graham warned that any persons caught in the act of destroying property or generally disturbing the peace would be at least locked up at Police Headquarters over night to permit their enthusiasm an opportunity to cool off somewhat.

Xenia's Hallowe'en observance Wednesday night, although outwardly boisterous, was in reality devoid of acts of vandalism, police declaring that few complaints were received and those of a minor nature.

Xenia Lady Sorry She Put off Seeing Konjola Man—Simply Added To Her Days of Suffering.

Konjola, the new medicine, is adding daily to its fame and friends by the new and glorious health it is bringing to men and women, young and old, who have suffered year after year, seeking in vain for something to help them

MRS. ANNA MENDENHALL

Those who would be well again; those who have been disappointed in their quest for health; those who believe there is no relief in sight—all those are urged to see the Konjola Man at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, Xenia, and learn from him of the thousands of actual cases where Konjola has, indeed, proved the master medicine. Day after day those who have found long sought health through this remedy, return to tell the Konjola Man of their wonderful experiences. Among these is Mrs. Anna Mendenhall, 119 South Whiteman Street, Xenia, who said:

"How I regret putting off seeing the Konjola Man after this astound ing new medicine had been so strongly recommended to me for my stomach trouble and nervousness. Every day I delayed simply added to my days of suffering. For two years I had no appetite; nothing agreed with me, and dizziness and drowsiness caused intense suffering. Nervousness followed, and as my food did me little or no good, I became weak and totally run down. I spent a great deal of money—all I could afford—in trying this and that treatment and medicine. None did me the least bit of good."

"Finally, I saw the Konjola Man, and talked over my case with him. He made no promises, no claims, and this encouraged me; gave me faith in this new remedy. He did point out cases like mine though, in which Konjola had proved a complete success. So I started the treatment. That was six weeks ago, and today I am eating anything I like. My digestion is perfect, my nerves are calm and I sleep just fine. I am feeling fine too, in every way, and all my friends tell me how well I look. This is a new experience for me, and all the credit goes to this wonderful Konjola. All the world should know of this super-medicine. The Konjola Man was right when he said that Konjola is a medicine of deeds, not words."

In such cases, no matter of how long standing, Konjola is supreme; the medicine without a peer. Not only does it work quickly, but the health that comes through Konjola comes to stay. Ailing organs are cleansed and stimulated; the system is cleared of its poisons; soon symptoms and pains flee, and new and lasting health take their place. Konjola is within the reach of all, for daily the Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, this city, where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this master medicine."

You doubtless depend on Aspirin to make short work of headaches, but remember that it's just as dependable an antidote for many other pains! Neuralgia? Many have found real relief in a Bayer Aspirin tablet. Or for toothache; an effective way to relieve it, and the one thing doctors are willing you should give a child—of any age. Whether to break up a cold, or relieve the serious pain from neuritis or deep-seated rheumatism, there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin. Just make certain it's genuine; it must have Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

MARGARET TEACH
SUDDENLY CALLED
THURSDAY MORNING

Guests of Dr. Eckener

was brought Wednesday to Washington Hospital, where he will undergo treatment. Mr. Raymond Cull, E. Main St., was the guest Wednesday of his brother Leroy Cull, who is confined in the state hospital, Dayton. He reports him doing nicely.

Miss Margaret Teach, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Teach, 690 S. Detroit St., and a senior in Central High School, died unexpectedly at the McClellan Hospital at 4 o'clock Thursday morning.

Miss Teach had been ailing for the last two months. Her condition had not been considered serious however, until recently, and much of the time she had been attending school. She was removed to the hospital for treatment at 9:30 Wednesday night when alarming symptoms developed, but death was entirely unexpected. She was suffering from gastritis.

Miss Teach was the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Teach, and was born in Xenia November 28, 1911. She is survived by her parents and sister, Irma. She was a member of the First M. E. Church and Sunday School.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 Saturday, at the home, with burial at Woodland Cemetery.

POLICE CHIEF WARNS
REVELERS TO BE GOOD

Related Juvenile Hallowe'en celebra-tants were reminded Thursday by Police Chief M. E. Graham that Hallowe'en is now over.

Chief Graham warned that any persons caught in the act of destroying property or generally disturbing the peace would be at least locked up at Police Headquarters over night to permit their enthusiasm an opportunity to cool off somewhat.

KONJOLA QUICKLY
ENDS STOMACH ILLS
AND NERVOUSNESS

Xenia Lady Sorry She Put off Seeing Konjola Man—Simply Added To Her Days of Suffering.

Konjola, the new medicine, is adding daily to its fame and friends by the new and glorious health it is bringing to men and women, young and old, who have suffered year after year, seeking in vain for something to help them.

Those who would be well again; those who have been disappointed in their quest for health; those who believe there is no relief in sight—all those are urged to see the Konjola Man at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, Xenia, and learn from him of the thousands of actual cases where Konjola has, indeed, proved the master medicine. Day after day those who have found long sought health through this remedy, return to tell the Konjola Man of their wonderful experiences. Among these is Mrs. Anna Mendenhall, 119 South Whiteman Street, Xenia, who said:

"How I regret putting off seeing the Konjola Man after this astounding new medicine had been so strongly recommended to me for my stomach trouble and nervousness. Every day I delayed simply added to my days of suffering. For two years I had no appetite; nothing agreed with me, and daily headaches and dizziness caused intense suffering. Nervousness followed, and as my food did me little or no good, I became weak and totally run down. I spent a great deal of money—all I could afford—in trying this and that treatment and medicine. None did me the least bit of good."

"Finally, I saw the Konjola Man, and talked over my case with him. He made no promises, no claims, and this encouraged me; gave me faith in this new remedy. He did point out cases like mine though, in which Konjola had proved a complete success. So I started the treatment. That was six weeks ago, and today I am eating anything I like. My digestion is perfect, my nerves are calm and I sleep just fine. I am feeling fine, too, in every way, and all my friends tell me how well I look. This is a new experience for me, and all the credit goes to this wonderful Konjola. All the world should know of this super-medicine. The Konjola Man was right when he said that Konjola is a medicine of words, not works."

In such cases, no matter of how long standing, Konjola is supreme, the medicine without a peer. Not only does it work quickly, but the health that comes through Konjola comes to stay. Ailing organs are cleansed and stimulated; the system is cleared of its poisons, soon symptoms and pains flee, and new and lasting health take their place. Konjola is within the reach of all, for daily the Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main Street, this city, where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this master medicine."

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacetacideester of Salicylicacid.

You doubtless depend on Aspirin to make short work of headaches, but remember that it's just as dependable an antidote for many other pains! Neuralgia? Many have found real relief in a Bayer Aspirin tablet. Or for toothache; an effective way to relieve it, and the one thing doctors are willing you should give a child—of any age. Whether to break up a cold, or relieve the serious pain from neuritis or deep-seated rheumatism, there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin. Just make certain it's genuine; it must have Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin;
it does NOT affect the heart

HALLOWEEN DANCE IS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Green eyed, uncanny looking black cats blinked at the 300 guests who attended the Hallowe'en dance and card party sponsored by Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at the Masonic temple Wednesday night.

The cats flanked the fireplace in the reception room, and their blinking eyes were electric effects arranged by Mr. Arthur V. Miller, a member of the committee.

About $150 was realized from the affair, and the net proceeds will be devoted to aid in liquidation of the remaining indebtedness on the Shawnee park pavilion.

All the ingenuity of the committee and those who assisted in the preparations were used to devise attractive decorations, which were typically Hallowe'en. Pumpkin lanterns shaded the lights, cornstalks and autumn leaves were used in the most effective manner, while witches rode broomsticks and black cats arched their backs at the visiting revelers. A large number of the guests were in masquerade costume. A grand march led by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Adair was participated in by most of the visitors and it preceded the dancing which was enjoyed until midnight. Guests who did not care to dance spent the evening playing cards.

Sweet elder was on tap all evening in the refreshment booth in an alcove decorated with corn fodder and autumn leaves and lighted with pumpkins. Doughnuts were an accompaniment of the elder.

Ohio Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, the Downtown Country Club, Alpha Theta Chapter, Delta Theta Tau Sorority, co-operated with Rotary and Kiwanis in the affair. The Rotary committee in charge consisted of: Messrs. John G. Baldwin, S. N. McClellan, Arthur V. Miller, Purl Cox and Frederick Anderson. Kiwanis was represented by Messrs. James J. Adair, Karl R. Babbs, E. A. Kern, C. A. Bone and C. A. Kelble.

CANDIDATES MAKE PLANS FOR WINDING UP BIG CAMPAIGNS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1.—Postmaster General Harry S. New invaded the state today on behalf of Herbert Hoover, the Republican presidential nominee.

New was in Canton this morning, conferring with Postmaster Leonard T. Cool on plans for a new Canton post office and federal building, and tonight will address a Democratic rally.

In another section of the city, and at the same hour, Congressman Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak in Cincinnatus last night.

Myers Y. Cooper, the Republican nominee, will speak in Cleveland today. He will return to his home county, Hamilton, the latter part of this week, to close his campaign.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic candidate for vice president, will invade the state Saturday and will speak at Dayton on behalf of the Democratic national ticket.

Henry G. Brunner, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee renewed today his attack on C. D. Zellers, superintendent of the Dayton district of the Anti-Saloon League.

"By what right?" asked Brunner, "does Zellers tell the honest and Christian people of the Miami Valley or any other section of Ohio whom they shall vote for or against?"

Brunner flatly charged Zellers with conducting an anti-Democratic campaign, declaring Zellers has been speaking on behalf of the Republican ticket.

Both Cooper and Davey today were launching their last intensive drive for votes.

In several meetings upstate last night, Cooper assailed Davey and criticized him for his attacks on Maurice H. Maschke, Republican national committee, in connection with the Cuyahoga County election fraud scandal.

"I want to be governor of Ohio," Cooper said at one meeting, "but I do not want to be governor badly enough to resort to mud-slinging and slander to achieve my ambition."

Senator Robinson will speak in Lima Saturday afternoon and, after his Dayton address, go on a brief barnstorming tour of the state.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican candidate for re-election will be in Youngstown tomorrow while Charles V. Triax, his Democratic opponent, will speak in Wapakoneta.

Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati Democrat, who is opposing Congressman Theodore E. Burton in the other senatorial race, spoke in Cincinnati last night.

"The wet and dry fight throughout the nation has been completely reversed during the eight years of prohibition," he said. "Eight years ago the Anti-Saloon League pleaded for prohibition to save the youth of the land. Today, it becomes the duty of Governor Alford E. Smith and myself to plead with the electors of this nation to amend the prohibition laws for that purpose."

Green eyed, uncanny looking black cats blinked at the 300 guests who attended the Hallowe'en dance and card party sponsored by Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at the Masonic temple Wednesday night.

The cats flanked the fireplace in the reception room, and their blinking eyes were electric effects arranged by Mr. Arthur V. Miller, a member of the committee.

About $150 was realized from the affair, and the net proceeds will be devoted to aid in liquidation of the remaining indebtedness on the Shawnee park pavilion.

All the ingenuity of the committee and those who assisted in the preparations were used to devise attractive decorations, which were typical Hallowe'en. Pumpkin lanterns shaded the lights, cornstalks and autumn leaves were used in the most effective manner, while witches rode broomsticks and black cats arched their backs at the visiting revelers. A large number of the guests were in masquerade costume. A grand march led by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Adair was participated in by most of the visitors and it preceded the dancing which was enjoyed until midnight. Guests who did not care to dance spent the evening playing cards.

Sweet cider was on tap all evening in the refreshment booth in an alcove decorated with corn fodder and autumn leaves and lighted with pumpkins. Doughnuts were an accompaniment of the cider.

Ohio Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity, the Downtown Country Club, Alpha Theta Chapter, Delta Theta Tau Sorority, co-operated with Rotary and Kiwanis in the charge. The Rotary committee in charge consisted of: Messrs. John G. Baldwin, S. N. McClellan, Arthur V. Miller, Purl Cox and Frederick Anderson. Kiwanis was represented by Messrs. James Adair, Karl R. Babb, E. A. Kern, C. A. Bone and C. A. Kelble.

Word received from University Hospital Columbus, Thursday by relatives of Frank Schwibold and his little son Frank Jr., who are suffering from injuries received in an automobile crash last Sunday, is that the condition of Mr. Schwibold remains virtually unchanged, with perhaps a slight turn for the better. The little boy's condition is improving steadily, and it is expected that he will be sufficiently recovered to be brought home the last of the week. Mrs. Schwibold returned to Columbus Wednesday evening following the funeral of her two older children, who were killed in the crash in which her husband and little son were seriously hurt.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A GENUINE PRAYER—O Lord, be gracious unto us; we have waited for thee; be thou our arm every morning, our salvation also in the time of trouble.—Isa. 33:2.

JURIES AND JUSTICE

Trial by jury has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. It should be abolished. These are the conclusions of Edgar Allan Poe, former attorney-general for the state of Maryland, in a debate with Martin W. Littleton printed in "The Forum."

Having served a state which has tried thousands of criminal cases without juries, Mr. Poe is convinced that in this way justice best served. Juries may have been ideally adapted to deal with conditions of the past, but times and circumstances have changed, says this eminent lawyer.

"The main purpose of criminal procedure is—or should be—to bring about the conviction of the guilty and the acquittal of the innocent after a prompt and fair trial," he says. "A proper observance of all fundamental constitutional safeguards is, of course, of vital importance. But this is not all. The public welfare equally demands the prompt and certain conviction and punishment of those who violate the criminal law. The ideal tribunal, therefore, should be one which is not only clothed with authority to determine guilt or innocence, but which is actually qualified for the task and is least likely to err in its judgments. By this criterion, how does the jury qualify as an instrument of justice?

Furthermore, the requirement of unanimity is a great advantage to the guilty. One obstinate, friendly or corrupt juror can easily bring about a miscarriage of justice. There is much less likelihood—at least theoretically—that a guilty person will be acquitted by a judge than by a jury. By learning, training, and experience the judge is an expert in the matters which he is called upon to decide.

KING OF SPORTS

A certain crown is on a new head. King Baseball is deposed and Football has ascended his throne. Their subjects are reconciled to the change so the transition is orderly, though noisy.

For the next several Saturday afternoons the nation will jam thousands of university, college, preparatory school and high school stadiums, bowls, grandstands, bleachers and sidelines scattered across the length and breadth of this land. A few years ago football captured the fancy of sport-loving America and there is no indication that its popularity is on the wane.

Many a promising young man turns out to be a man who keeps on promising.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

McPHERSONISM

Aimee Semple McPherson is not finding a 100 per cent welcome abroad. There are English ministers who do not think her type of evangelism will do anybody any good. They evidently agree with a Los Angeles clergyman who describes McPhersonism as "a jazz religion running contemporary to the jazz age in the United States."

It is perhaps true that the thing that appeals and satisfies thousands in the Billy Sunday, Aimee McPherson type of so-called religion is the excitement and violence of it rather than truth. It is unhappy that more people love entertainment than love truth.

ONE CYLINDER

A "wise-cracker" remarks that there are a lot of one-cylinder brains behind the wheels of eight-cylinder cars. Lots of truth in that. You may boast of your car as much as you please. You may talk about its speed and its endurance. But the best automobile in the world is only as good as the driver.

LAYING A GHOST

Thoughtful citizens will agree with Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank of New York, who tells a London audience there is nothing to the old idea that presidential years in America are years of business depression. Picturing the prosperity of the United States Mr. Mitchell says:

"There is no reason why presidential years should differ from other years, so far as prosperity is concerned. Our prosperity has continued at a very high level. Our crops will be the greatest ever produced—900,000,000 bushels of wheat."

"Business profits for the first half of the year exceeded those for the same period of 1927 by three per cent. The production of steel will make 1928 a record year. Farm implement manufacturers are also having a bumper year, showing plainly the condition of our farmers. Our trade balance increased by $114,000,000 in eight months."

MAKE THE OTHER FELLOW BEHAVE

We are usually not doing a wise or even a kind thing when we make all the concessions and do not insist that the other fellow do his part. For example the United States is interested in doing her part in disarmament, but she properly refuses to take the Anglo-French naval pact seriously. This pact between Great Britain and France is apparently intended to cut American naval strength and take care of strengthening the sea power of the other two countries. America is prepared to make a sacrificial cut in war and sea power, but it would be wrong for America not to insist on justice at the same time.

The Diary of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK.—Jack Dempsey may draw the "gate" as a prize fighter, but as an actor his play flopped.

It won't tour as scheduled. Following a brief run in New York, a briefer run in Boston, and a finish in New Haven, "The Big Fight" suffers a k.o.

Walter Winchell, columnist, is authority for the statement it lost $80,000.

Expenses, particularly Jack Dempsey's salary, were too high.

Jack is going into a talking picture production.

His wife, Estelle Taylor, left the cast when the play moved on to Boston. She was exceedingly dissatisfied with her part, the play and the speaking stage.

Jack got homesick, being up in Boston and she here, and made a trip or two down to visit her. He is said to be quite a lover. At least, so a sob sister I know assures.

Winchell also claims to know the reason why Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which paid $30,000 or some such sum for the stage play, "The Song Writer," decided after all not to make a picture of it. Irving Berlin, song writer, who has been in the news consistently because of his marriage, spoke with M-G-M. Some folk said the playwright had Berlin's romance in mind.

On rainy nights, taxis have a waiting list at hotel stands. The other evening, therefore, when I was at one of the hotels connected under ground with Grand Central Terminal, I dodged the crowd, walked under ground to the Grand Central taxi unloading station, and lounged back in the cushions as I rode past the waiting horde under the hotel canopy.

The Metropolitan opera remains the greatest social event. Two elderly women have Box No. 1—Mrs. Ogden Golet and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. But the opening finds it vacant, for Mrs. Golet is in Europe and Mrs. Vanderbilt remains at Newport, R. I.

It has settled large voluminous of Canadian-American differences of opinion—some of them pretty bitter—in that time.

As busy as it has been, it is safe to say that mighty few, either of Americans or Canadians, ever heard of the International Joint Commission.

If the commissioners, when they met, had pulled hair, and squabbled and orated, and caused one another of all kinds of dirty work, and made conflicting reports to Washington and Ottawa, thus creating a lot of ill-feeling, they would have been well known all right, on both sides of the border, long ago.

But in all its history, not a cross word ever has been spoken at one of the commission's meetings.

In spite of all the rows which it has ended amicably, never has the International Joint Commission returned anything but an unanimous verdict one single time.

In a record like that—where is the news?

Finally, funds got so low that they were abled to sell the sapphire pin, and the two women brought it to my friend, the jeweler, to learn its value. They knew that it was worth at least $65,000, according to an appraisal made many years previous, and they hoped that the value had at least doubled since then. The jeweler placed the sapphires under a glass, studied them intently for a few moments, and then announced: "Ladies, I am sorry to tell you that these stones are worth a total of only about $12. They're imitations."

It came out later that Uncle Abner, of a previous generation, had been a great sport and spendthrift in his day, and in all probability he had secretly arranged with a jeweler to substitute imitations for the real stone as a means of raising ready cash. The stones had been handed down by will twice after that without anyone being the wiser.

In a lesser degree you will find this personality woven into the homes of the poorest peasant. In the outlying provinces of France. In Brittany, Lorraine, in the wide agricultural districts to the south of Paris, you will find again and again that delightful homelike atmosphere which comes from the very soul of the European woman—the urge to express herself in the home she builds. It is this scarcely tangible fact which penetrates the soul of the modern home economist and brings her back to her tiled and paneled kitchen to rave about the warmth, frequently ill-lit, always encrusted kitchens of the French women.

For Sunday this menu might be reversed, serving the creamed oysters for Sunday night supper.

It is an easily prepared dish and delicious. Broiled pork steak will be a change from the usual Sunday roast. The quantities are for four.

Today's Recipes

Creamed Oysters on Toast —

Make a cream sauce by melting three tablespoons butter, add two and one-half tablespoons flour, stir in gradually one cup milk; stir until it begins to boil. Add one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper. The beaten yolks of two eggs be added. Scald 2½ or more oysters in their own juice and add to cream sauce. Serve on buttered toast.

Hot Johnnie Cake—One-third cup shortening, one-third cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one egg beaten light, one and one-fourth cups milk, one cup flour, one cup cornmeal, four teaspoons baking powder. Bake in well-greased tins about 25 minutes.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A GENUINE PRAYER—O Lord, be gracious unto us; we have waited for thee: be thou their arm every morning, our salvation also in the time of trouble.—Isa. 33:2.

JURIES AND JUSTICE

Trial by jury has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. It should be abolished. These are the conclusions of Edgar Allan Poe, former attorney-general for the state of Maryland, in a debate with Martin W. Littleton printed in "The Forum."

Having served a state which has tried thousands of criminal cases without juries, Mr. Poe is convinced that in this way justice best served. Juries may have been ideally adapted to deal with conditions of the past, but times and circumstances have changed, says this eminent lawyer.

"The main purpose of criminal procedure is—or should be—to bring about the conviction of the guilty and the acquittal of the innocent after a prompt and fair trial," he says. "A proper observance of all fundamental constitutional safeguards is, of course, of vital importance. But this is not all. The public welfare equally demands the prompt and certain conviction and punishment of those who violate the criminal law. The ideal tribunal, therefore should be one which is not only clothed with authority to determine guilt or innocence, but which is actually qualified for the task and is least likely to err in its judgments. By this criterion, how does the jury qualify as an instrument of justice?

Furthermore, the requirement of unanimity is a great advantage to the guilty. One obstinate, friendly or corrupt juror can easily bring about a miscarriage of justice. There is much less likelihood—at least theoretically—that a guilty person will be acquitted by a judge than by a jury. By learning, training, and experience the judge is an expert in the matters which he is called upon to decide.

KING OF SPORTS

A certain crown is on a new head. King Baseball is deposed and Football has ascended his throne. Their subjects are reconciled to the change so the transition is orderly, though noisy.

For the next several Saturday afternoons the nation will jam thousands of university, college, preparatory school and high school stadiums, bowls, grandstands, bleachers and sidelines scattered across the length and breadth of this land. A few years ago football captured the fancy of sport-loving America and there is no indication that its popularity is on the wane.

Many a promising young man turns out to be a man who keeps on promising.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

McPHERONISM

Aimee Semple McPherson is not finding a 100 per cent welcome abroad. There are English ministers who do not think her type of evangelism will do anybody any good. They evidently agree with a Los Angeles clergyman who describes McPhersonism as "a jazz religion running contemporary to the jazz age in the United States."

It is perhaps true that the thing that appeals and satisfies those in the Billy Sunday, Aimee McPherson type of so-called religion is the excitement and violence of it rather than truth. It is unhappy that more people love entertainment than love truth.

ONE CYLINDER

A "wisecracker" remarks that there are a lot of one-cylinder brains behind the wheels of eight-cylinder cars. Lots of truth in that. You may boast of your car as much as you please. You may talk about its speed and its endurance. But the best automobile in the world is only as good as the driver.

LAYING A GHOST

Thoughtful citizens will agree with Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, of New York, who tells a London audience there is nothing to the old idea that presidential years in America are years of business depression. Picturing the prosperity of the United States Mr. Mitchell says:

"There is no reason why presidential years should differ from other years, so far as prosperity is concerned. Our prosperity has continued at a very high level. Our crops will be the greatest ever produced—900,000,000 bushels of wheat."

BUSINESS PROFITS FOR THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR EXCEEDED THOSE FOR THE SAME PERIOD OF 1927 BY THREE PER CENT.

The production of steel will make 1928 a record year. Farm implement manufacturers are also having a bumper year, showing plainly the condition of our farmers. Our trade balance increased by $114,000,000 in eight months."

MAKE THE OTHER FELLOW BEHAVE

We are usually not doing a wise or even a kind thing when we make all the concessions and do not insist that the other fellow do his part. For example the United States is interested in doing her part in disarmament, but she properly refuses to take the Anglo-French naval pact seriously. This pact between Great Britain and France is apparently intended to cut American naval strength and take care of strengthening the sea power of the other two countries. America is prepared to make a sacrificial cut in war and sea power, but it would be wrong for America not to insist on justice at the same time.

The Diary of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK.—Jack Dempsey may draw the "gate" as a prize fighter, but as an actor his play flopped.

It won't tour as scheduled. Following a brief run in New York, a briefer run in Boston, and a finish in New Haven, "The Big Fight" suffers a k.o.

Walter Winchell, columnist, is authority for the statement it lost $80,000.

Expenses, particularly Jack Dempsey's salary, were too high. Jack is going into a talking picture production.

His wife, Estelle Taylor, left the east when the play moved on to Boston. She was exceedingly dissatisfied with her part, the play, and the speaking stage.

Jack got homesick, being up in Boston and she here, and made a trip or two down to visit her. He is said to be quite a lover. At least, so a sob sister I know assures.

Winchell also claims to know the reason why Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which paid $30,000 or some such sum for the stage play, "The Song Writer," decided after all not to make a picture of it. Irving Berlin, song writer, who has been in the news consistently because of his marriage, spoke with M-G-M. Some folk said in playwright had Berlin's romance in mind.

On rainy nights, taxis have a waiting list at hotel stands. The other evening, therefore, when I was at one of the hotels connected underground with Grand Central Terminal, I dodged the crowd, walked underground to the Grand Central's taxi unloading station, and lounged back in the cushions as I rode past the waiting horde under the hotel canopy.

This may interest somebody: The Leviathan's sailing day has been changed from Friday night to Wednesday midnight. It formerly was Saturday noon.

The Metropolitan opera remains the greatest social event. Two elderly women have Box No. 1—Mrs. Ogden Gooley and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. But the opening finds it vacant, for Mrs. Gooley is in Europe and Mrs. Vanderbilt remains at Newport, R. I.

J. Pierpont Morgan has Box No. 17. And the Percy Rockefellers are the only Rockefellers who are the diamond horseshoe of boxes.

Clarence H. Mackay—dare we say he is Irving Berlin's father-in-law?—has given up his box to Mrs. George T. Brokaw because of the death of his mother.

When Hoover was in town, Tammany police took particular care to see that no harm befell him.

One of the best investments in New York is not a stock, and hasn't anything to do with Wall Street. It is in tickets for the periodical visits of the Philadelphia Symphony. At this season of the year the market rises toward new peaks. There are a few turnovers.

Only two chorus girl engagements announced today—and the papers still "fall" for them. But none to Lindy. The last and only didn't go so well. He didn't even utter a denial. If a chorus girl gets within a mil of him she's lucky.

It is known that they could, because there is one international tribunal which does.

It is known as the International Joint commission—the half American and half Canadian. It met first in 1912, and has held two regular sessions annually ever since, besides an average of two or three extra ones per twelve-month in the same 16 years, to consider emergency disputes as they arose.

Clarence D. Clark of Evanston (Wyo.), Fred T. Dubois of Blackfoot (Ida.), and P. J. McCumber of Wahpeton (N. D.) are members. Charles A. Magrath and Sir William Hearst, both of Toronto, and Henry A. Powell of St. John, (N. B.) are Canadians.

A dingy little suite in what is known as the Old Land Office building is the commission's Washington headquarters. There America's secretary, William H. Smith, is always on the job.

Canada's secretary, Lawrence J. Burpee, presides in an equally dingy suite, I suppose, in Ottawa.

The commissioners are not in session except when there is something for them to decide.

BLUE AND WHITE SQUAD HOLDING OUT BEST WORK FOR GREENVILLE

Xenia Central High School gridders will go gunning Friday afternoon for their second Miami Valley High School League victory, stacking up against the heavy Greenville High eleven on the latter's gridiron.

An intensive search is being conducted this week by Coach Walter "Pinky" Wilson for Xenia's missing punch. The punch disappeared a long time ago, has been missing practically all season and its whereabouts are unknown.

Central's grid squad has been furnished with a good description of the missing article this week and the entire squad is participating in the hunt with high hopes it may turn up in time to be used against Greenville.

As a matter of fact, Xenia has been accumulating plenty of yardage every game but comparatively few touchdowns have resulted when the amount of ground gained is considered.

Coach Wilson has been more or less pointing for the Greenville contest and the Blue and White eleven has not unleashed its entire bag of tricks in any game this season.

Xenia's record indicates it is superior to Greenville but anything can happen in football—witness the many distinct upsets that have already taken place in every part of the country this season.

Greenville undoubtedly has the heaviest team in the league. Its line is particularly beefy. With that in mind, Xenia's practice workouts have been mainly devoted to perfecting a forward passing attack and in running the ends. It is taken for granted that little headway can be made through the line.

Xenia is still undefeated in the league and expects to exert every effort to keep its record unsullied.

PUNTS AND PASSES.

THE PREDICTIONS

With the advent of November when mid-season is reached it usually becomes a man-sized job to pick winners in the principal collegiate football games scheduled in different parts of the country.

At the risk of being included in the casualties of the current gridiron season those boys who pick winners ahead of time—Coach Walter L. "Pinky" Wilson, Xenia Central High School mentor has volunteered to make predictions this week relative to the outcome of twenty-five games scheduled for Saturday.

This week the assignment is a stiff one—stiffer if possible than any preceding week, but Coach Wilson is convinced the following selections should be correct providing the teams he favors run true to past form:

Yale to beat Dartmouth.
Holy Cross to beat Brown.
Harvard to beat Lehigh.
Navy to beat W. Va. Wesleyan.
Cornell to beat Columbia.
Syracuse to beat Pittsburg.
Nebraska to beat Kansas.
Minnesota to beat Michigan.
Cedarville to beat Northwestern.

RESTRAINING ORDER ALLOWED BY COURT; OTHER COURT NEWS

A temporary restraining order has been allowed by Common Pleas Court in an injunction suit filed by The Continental Finance Co. against Theodore E. Longenecker, Bath Twp. Justice of the peace; W. A. Schneider and H. G. Sheppard, constables; and W. J. Hall and J. D. Chamberlain is attorney for the plaintiff.

According to the petition, the defendant W. J. Hall filed an affidavit in attachment last August 16 before the township magistrate attaching property belonging to F. K. Boggs, Inc., and the next day garnishment proceedings were begun in court, naming Croskey garnishee.

Notice was served on Croskey the magistrate ordering him as garnishee to pay into the court all money and property in his hands belonging to F. K. Boggs, Inc., the petition recites.

Prior to the commencement of the proceedings, the plaintiff firm asserts it owned sixteen promissory notes of $45 each, secured by chattel mortgage on an auto truck owned by Croskey.

Declaring that Croskey owes the firm $720 representing the notes, the plaintiff asks for a restraining order enjoining the attachment of the truck which secures the mortgage, by the constables and the court.

J. D. Chamberlain is attorney for the plaintiff.

Doctors have known the value of cod liver oil for a great many years and have used it freely in their practice. Modern research has de-

Essex Super Looks and Acts like a Costly Car because it's built like a costly car

The only Essex point in common with cars in its price field—is price. There is little in either appearance or performance to distinguish it from many a costlier car.

In size, it possesses the advantage of compactness without sacrifice of passenger quarters or riding comfort. It steers as easily as any car you have ever driven. There is a quickness and nimbleness in its motor action that will make some costlier cars you have driven seem slow and sluggish. These qualities are lasting.

With whatever costly car detail you compare Essex you will be impressed by its high standard in design, material and workmanship.

Many exclusive and patented features contribute to these Essex advantages—among them being its high-compression Super-Six motor, which to our belief is the most powerful and efficient automobile motor of its size in the world.

Won't you examine and drive the Essex, whether as a prospective buyer or as one interested in knowing why it is the choice car in its price field as proved by sales?

DOUBLE FUNERAL HELD FOR BROTHER AND SISTER HERE

Together in death, as they had been chums in life, Harold Schwabold, 16, and his 14-year-old sister, Helen, victims of an automobile collision near New California last Sunday, were laid to rest in one grave in Woodland Cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Funeral services for the brother and sister were conducted at the Reformed Church, where throngs of people gathered to pay their respects and to sympathize with the grief-stricken mother, the only one of the immediate family able to follow the forms of her children to the grave. Fully 1,000 persons filed past the flower banked caskets in which reposed the bodies of the boy and girl, before they were taken from the church to the cemetery.

The service was conducted by the Rev. D. A. Sellers. Mrs. Ray mond Wolf and Dr. B. L. Lackey sang special numbers to an accompaniment by Miss Marguerite Williams.

Members of the sophomore and freshman classes, Central high school, to which the dead boy and girl belonged attended the service in a body, and boys selected from those classes served as ushers and pallbearers. The usherettes were: William Eichman, Carl Balmer, Chas. Thomas and Everett Hall. The pallbearers were: Howard Buckles, Richard Ross, William Ringer, Eugene Coffelt, David Short, Melvin Filson for Miss Schweibald and Birch Bell, Foye Roher, Edgar Michaels, Merton Leinberger, Robert Kinsey and Lester Price for Harold Schweibald.

Father John's Medicine is now being used in 184 hospitals, and institutions from coast to coast in the United States and Canada.

During its 73 years of success in the treatment of colds, throat troubles and as a body builder, Father John's Medicine has come to be recognized in a great many hospitals and charitable institutions as having great value. Because it is guaranteed free from alcohol or drugs in any form, doctors recommend it.

Father John's Medicine is a high grade preparation of Cod Liver Oil with other valuable ingredients. It builds new tissue and strengthens and gives power to resist illness.

Doctors have known the value of cod liver oil for a great many years and have used it freely in their practice. Modern research has determined the reason for its value, and given it the name of vitamins.

It is unquestioned that cod liver oil, when given in palatable form such as Father John's Medicine, is one of the greatest body builders for those who are weakened or run down.

The Matron of the Children's Home at Lowell, Mass., writes: "I have 40 or 45 children here at the children's home constantly. When they are weak or run down I always give them Father John's Medicine to build them up. They all gain rapidly under the treatment the medicine affords. Whenever they get cold or have a cough or throat irritation Father John's Medicine give prompt and sure relief." (Signed) Ellen O'Leary, Matron, Children's Home, Lowell, Mass.

Looks and Acts like a Costly Car because it's built like a costly car

The only Essex point in common with cars in its price field—is price. There is little in either appearance or performance to distinguish it from many a costlier car.

In size, it possesses the advantage of compactness without sacrifice of passenger quarters or riding comfort. It steers as easily as any car you have ever driven. There is a quickness and nimbleness in its motor action that will make some costlier cars you have driven seem slow and sluggish. These qualities are lasting.

With whatever costly car detail you compare Essex you will be impressed by its high standard in design, material and workmanship.

Many exclusive and patented features contribute to these Essex advantages—among them being its high-compression Super-Six motor, which to our belief is the most powerful and efficient automobile motor of its size in the world.

Won't you examine and drive the Essex, whether as a prospective buyer or as one interested in knowing why it is the choice car in its price field as proved by sales?

The Little Yellow House

By BEATRICE BURTON -- RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSN. ©1928

READ THIS FIRST:

Over the poverty and discontent in the little yellow house broods a mother's love, which transmutes the dingy home to a palace of love and beauty. Emmy, the ohly daughter, is disappointed with her surroundings, envious of her wealthy Grandmother Pentland and Cousin
Marianna, eager to try her wings.
She goes to work at her first job.
And there a new man, Wells Harbinson, enters her life, very different from quiet, hardworking Robb, who loves her, but who represents to her only a moneyless, boring future. She decides to get away from dingy Flower Street and live her own life in a little apartment of her own, where she can entertain as she likes. So that Emmy will not leave, the little yellow house is given up, and the family goes to live in Grandmother Pentland's big house, where Mrs. Milburn is to do the housework, the servants having left. Grandmother has never liked Charlie Milburn, Emmy's father, believing him to be shiftless.

Charlie Milburn is ordered out of the house by Grandmother Pentland when he turns up late Sunday morning, intoxicated. Mrs. Milburn tries to save him.

Charlie Milburn is killed by an auto down town, and after the funeral Mrs. Milburn decides to go back to the little yellow house.

(Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER XXXIX

Emmy did not go back to Flower
Street with her family.

Charlie Milburn was buried on Tuesday, a blue-and-white April day that seemed to deny with its sunshine that there could be such things in the world as death and heartbreak and loneliness. He was buried from Grandmother Pentland's big house, where he never had been welcome, and he was laid to rest among the Parkses and the Pentlands who never had liked him during their lifetime.

And after it was all over Mrs.
Milburn came back to Prospect Street, took off her long black veil, and set to work to pack all her shabby belongings into her two tin trunks.

"What on earth are you doing all this for tonight?" Emmy asked her when she came into the little sewing room at five o'clock and found her on her knees folding up Mrs. Milburn's candy-striped silk shirts and laying them carefully in a cardboard tray.

"Why, because we're leaving here tonight, of course," her mother answered. " Didn't I speak to you about it? Dear me, I suppose I forgot to—" She shook her head, exasperated by herself.

"No, you didn't say a word to me about it," said Emmy. "Robb's going to let you stay in the little yellow house, I suppose."

Mrs. Milburn nodded, shaking a handful of tobacco from the pocket of Dan's corduroy trousers as she folded them up. "Just look at all that tobacco, Emmy, after the way he's promised not to smoke 'till he's through school!"

"All my bushes smashed against the fence," she mourned, "and just as they were beginning to bud.
But Emmy knew it was not for her bodacious bushes that she was crying.

Presently she stopped, dried her eyes and went on with her packing.

"I can see there's no use in my trying to keep you from doing this thing you want to do, Emmy," she said.

"If you've made up your mind to live alone I suppose I shall have to let you go. But remember, home is always waiting for you when you need it. And when you need it, don't be stiff-necked and proud. Come straight home. It's the place where you belong, after all,
and no matter how little and poor it is, you're always welcome there."

It was the first time in three days that she had spoken with any of her usual bright interest. She had seemed so far away from everything and everybody; so shut off by her sorrow.

"I know I ought to go back home with you and pay some board to help keep the house going," Emmy told her after a minute. "Will Father go, Perry not working, you're going to need money. But I don't see how I can spare a cent right now. If I suppose myself it's going to take everything I earn for a while."

She knew that her mother must be practically penniless. And although she marveled at her consistency in leaving this land of milk and honey that was Grandmother's house, it struck her as being a foolish and unnecessary thing to do.

Grandmother had asked them all to stay on for a while at least.

"Don't you worry about us for a single minute, Emmy," Mrs. Milburn said now, rolling the Dying Gladiator up in an old blanket so that it should not be broken in the trunk. "We always manage to rock along somehow. And besides, we aren't going to pay Robb any rent. He's going to take his dinners with us every night instead.
He wouldn't have it any other way."

"He's good isn't he?" Emmy asked.

He was. There was no use denying it.

That night he and Perry came driving up to the house in the struggle-buggy to take Mrs. Milburn and Dan down to Flower Street. Emmy went out to speak to him while Perry helped her mother strap the trunks and suitcases upstairs.

"It will do your mother good to get her things out of storage and back into the house," he said. "It will take her mind off your dad, Emmy. Hard work is wonderful medicine for the mind. Sometimes when I've worked two shifts at the mill I come home too tired even to think about you very much. You wouldn't believe that, would you?"

Emmy changed the subject. "I'm not coming back with the folks, you know," she said. They were standing on the little stone porch at the side of the house, and her eyes were wide and shadowy in the gloom as she faced him.

Before he could answer she went on quickly with what she had to say. "I'm going to live by my self, and that will be my life. Why don't you move right in with Mother and the boys, Robb?" . . . It would help her meet her expenses, and you'd love living there. You've always wanted to live there."

"You're not coming back," Robb repeated her words slowly. "Why not? It's your home. It's the place where you belong."

Emmy laughed into his face.

"You've never seen the place where I belong, Robb Hollis!" she said.

As she spoke she could see the windows of the little one-room suite, framing the misty willow trees of Gordon Park, in her mind's eye. She could see the candelabra, the roses on it, the candles making a golden haze in the room, and the room itself filled with the kind of people that she was wanted in it. The right kind of people. Her "own kind," as Grandmother Pentland always put it.

husband, Wells Harbinson. Wells

The Theater

By GEORGE H. BEALE

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—Ruth Chatterton is the first outstanding woman star of the stage to make good in talking movies. Emil Jannings saw her while she was playing on the Los Angeles stage in "The Devil's Plum Tree." He was so deeply impressed that he asked Paramount executives to endeavor to secure her services for his new picture, "Sins of the Fathers."

Miss Chatterton took her test before the cameras with all the trepidation of a young extra girl despite all her experience upon the boards, and she screened vividly.

She was engaged for the picture, with the plan of including talking sequences. Her wonderful voice, which has thrilled theatergoers for so many seasons, proved

"The Green Hat."

According to Harold Lloyd, Confucius must have handed down the secret of longevity to the Chinese. For his current comedy, the bespectacled comedian wanted four elderly Orientals. Twenty-four hours later Tom Gubbins, the sage of Los Angeles Chinatown, had fifteen Chinese with a combined age of 1140 years waiting around the studio. Lloyd selected four whose years totalled 340, the oldest being Soo Hoo Sum, ninety years old.

Twenty Years Ago '28

Burglars cracked a safe in the Bowersville post office and stole money and stamps valued at $200.

Mr. C. F. Cretors, who is a government employee in the Panama Canal Zone, arrived in Xenia after an absence of two and one half years.

Miss Allegra Hawes, who spent the last four months in Victor, Col., arrived home.

to be perfectly adapted for the synchronized film. There is some doubt, now, however, whether the dialogue sequences will be included in "Sins of the Fathers" when it reaches the screen.

Studio heads signed her to a long term contract immediately upon completion of her work with Jannings and cast her in the role created twenty years ago by Maude Adams in the Sir James M. Barrie play, "Half an Hour," which is now being screened as an all-dialogue picture under the direction of William C. de Mille.

Born in New York City, Miss Chatterton left school when she was fourteen years old to play a part in a stage production. The young girl did so well in her first effort with a stock company in Washington, D. C., that she soon obtained a place in stock with Lowell Sherman, Pauline Lord and

XENIANS "WHOOPEE" JOINED IN BY LARGE HALLOWE'EN CROWD

Hundreds of people from Xenia and surrounding Greene County towns thronged the city Wednesday night for the fourth annual safe and sane celebration of Hallowe'en, a gala carnival sponsored by the Xenia Municipal Band.

The most important event of the evening was a masquerade parade when almost 200 entrants, decked in a variety of grotesque costumes, promenaded before the judges. Many prizes were awarded by Xenia merchants.

Forming on E. Main St. and passing in review before the judging stand erected on the south side of the Court House, the masked procession covered the entire business section of the city while hundreds of unmasked celebrants lined the streets.

That portion of E. Main St. between Detroit and Green Sts. was roped off. Dancing contests were held on the judges platform and old-fashioned dancing took place in the roped inclosure.

Never was more "whoopee" raised and never did as many people participate in the hilarious carnival as did Wednesday night. Revelry reigned supreme and members of the police force worked themselves into a lather trying to keep the lines open for the marchers and to prevent traffic congestion.

After the parade, the revelers disbanded, many attending the masquerade dance at the K. of P. Hall and a large number enjoying the dance at the Masonic Temple.

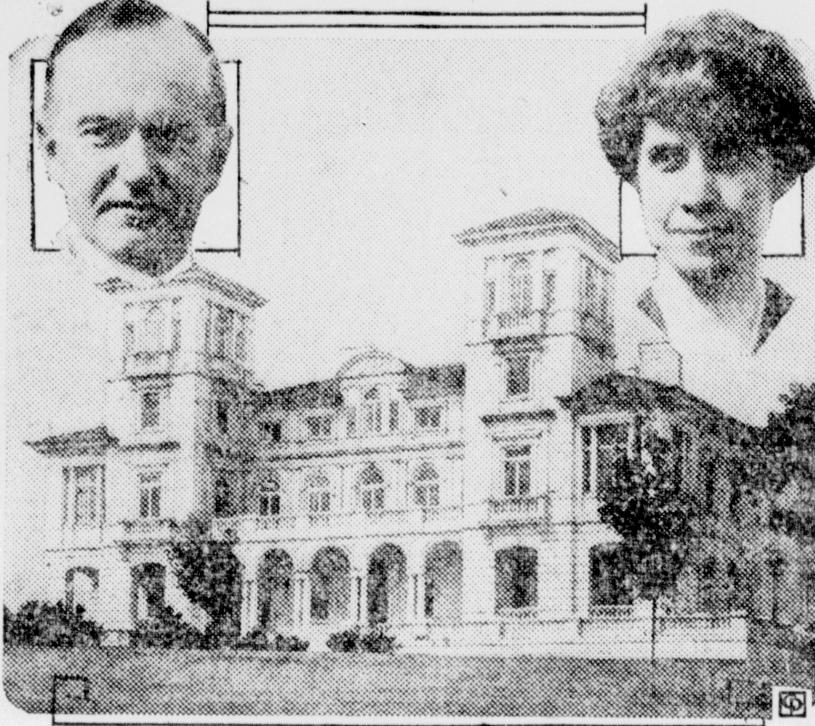

THOMAS FRANKS DIES HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Thomas Franks, 76, died at his home, 15 Race St., at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon. He had been in failing health for the last four years and his condition was serious since last January.

Mr. Franks was a native of Tennessee. He had lived in Xenia for thirty years. Surviving are his widow, Elmira and four children: Archie, at home; Albert of Xenia; Ray of Cincinnati; and Mrs. Lena Hammer of Dayton. He was a member of the Friends Church.

Funeral services will be conducted at the United Brethren Church at 1 p.m. Saturday. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

JAMESTOWN OFFICIAL QUELLS "GANGLAND" HALLOWE'EN PARTY

As a climax to the evening's Hallowe'en activities, a gang of Jamestown boys between the ages of 17 and 21, barricaded themselves in a soft drink establishment and defied Marshal John Baughn, former deputy sheriff, until the officer obtained assistance from the sheriff's office, Wednesday night.

After having warned the revelers that he did not mind a little innocent fun such as piling chairs on a street corner, running a coupe on the sidewalk and the like, the marshal became anxious when the boys began to blockade the business district.

About 1 a.m., Marshal Baughn walked into the soft drink parlor, the only business place which had remained open and warned the boys. The gang hustled him out of the building and locked the door. Believing that discretion was the better part of valor in this instance, the marshal notified Sheriff Ohmer Tate, who went to Jamestown with two deputies to quell the disturbance.

Order was restored and the ring leaders of the gang were ordered to appear before the village mayor Thursday.

XENIANS "WHOOPEE" JOINED IN BY LARGE
HALLOWE'EN CROWD

Hundreds of people from Xenia and surrounding Greene County towns thronged the city Wednesday night for the fourth annual safe and sane celebration of Hallowe'en, a gala carnival sponsored by the Xenia Municipal Band.

The most important event of the evening was a masquerade parade when almost 200 entrants, decked in a variety of grotesque costumes, promenaded before the judges. Many prizes were awarded by Xenia merchants.

Forming on E. Main St. and passing in review before the judging stand erected on the south side of the Court House, the masked procession covered the entire business section of the city while hundreds of unmasked celebrants lined the streets.

That portion of E. Main St. between Detroit and Green Sts. was roped off. Dancing contests were held on the judges platform and old-fashioned dancing took place in the roped inclosure.

Never was more "whoopie" raised and never did as many people participate in the hilarious carnival as did Wednesday night. Revelry reigned supreme and members of the police force worked themselves into a lather trying to keep the lines open for the marchers and to prevent traffic congestion.

After the parade, the revellers disbanded, many attending the masquerade dance at the K. of P. Hall and a large number enjoying the dance at the Masonic Temple.

THOMAS FRANKS DIES
HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Thomas Franks, 76, died at his home, 15 Race St., at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon. He had been in failing health for the last four years and his condition was serious since last January.

Mr. Franks was a native of Tennessee. He had lived in Xenia for thirty years. Surviving are his widow, Elmira, and four children; Archie, at home; Albert of Xenia; Ray of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Lena Hamner of Dayton. He was a member of the Friends Church.

Funeral services will be conducted at the United Brethren Church at 1 p.m. Saturday. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

JAMESTOWN OFFICIAL QUELLS "GANGLAND" HALLOWE'EN PARTY

As a climax to the evening's Hallowe'en activities, a gang of Jamestown boys between the ages of 17 and 21, barricaded themselves in a soft drink establishment and defied Marshal John Baughn, former deputy sheriff, until the officer obtained assistance from the sheriff's office, Wednesday night.

Believing that discretion was the better part of valor in this instance, the marshal notified Sheriff Ohmer Tate, who went to Jamestown with two deputies to quell the disturbance.

Order was restored and the ring-leaders of the gang were ordered to appear before the village mayor Thursday.
